

Secure Canola Farmers' Competitiveness: A Roadmap for Canada's Next Government

Canola is proudly 100% Canadian, having been invented and grown right here at home. Canola farmers are integral to Canada's food and fuel security, economic growth, and the fabric of rural communities. Facing unprecedented times, Canada's nearly 40,000 canola farmers need Canada's next government to act.

5 steps to secure canola farmers' competitiveness:

- Keep markets open, support diversification efforts, and maintain rules-based trade. Maintain a market signal for a domestic biofuel market that supports canola.
- Invest in critical trade-enabling rail and port infrastructure to secure Canada's – and canola's – reputation as a reliable supplier.
- Help farmers manage risk by strengthening business risk management programs.
- Eliminate actions that stifle investment and impact generational farming, such as permanently removing the carbon tax on farms and reversing the capital gains tax increase.
- Unleash innovation on farm. Government resources and modernized regulations must support research, investment, and adoption of the latest technologies that will drive efficiencies and yields on farms.
